11th Annual Intensive Review of Cardiology

August 22-25, 2010

Dear Colleague,

We are pleased to invite you to the 11th Annual Intensive Review of Cardiology this August 22-25, 2010, being held at the InterContinental Hotel and Bank of America Conference Center on the campus of Cleveland Clinic in Cleveland, Ohio.

This continues to be a wonderful forum to critically review current thinking and management encompassing all of the major cardiovascular disciplines. The symposium focus will be on practicing cardiologists and the delivery of contemporary cardiovascular medicine including complex patient management decision making. Cardiovascular Board Certification and Re-certification Examination candidates may also find this symposium useful.

Our aim is that this will be fun, clinically relevant, and stimulating. To achieve this goal, we will continue to integrate audience interaction with review of cases, images, and relevant data during the lectures. This year the program is scheduled for four days. We have introduced more interactive panel discussions and will further test your knowledge at the close of each day, emphasizing key patient care management concepts.

We plan to highlight the clinical evaluation and management of patients. Current ACC/AHA guidelines supporting treatment and management recommendations will be referenced as will treatment controversies and dilemmas. Interactive patient management evening sessions specific to electrophysiology and the cardiac catheterization laboratory are also planned.

New this year, we have introduced an evening reception on the symposium's first day, Sunday August 22, at which time we will have an opportunity to interact in a less formal setting. Our day will conclude with our inaugural plenary lecture to be delivered by Steven Nissen, MD, Chairman of the Department of Cardiovascular Medicine at the Cleveland Clinic.

In addition to these broad symposium goals, many other important topics and cases will be included. The Bank of America Conference Center has exceptional features that enhance learning and comfort. As symposium co-directors, we truly hope you will be able to join us this August for this exciting and memorable educational event.

Sincerely,

Brian Griffin, MD
Curtis M. Rimmerman, MD, MBA, FACC

11th Annual Intensive Review of Cardiology

August 22-25, 2010

Objectives

After participating in this symposium, participants will be able to do the following:

- Describe the pathophysiology of acute coronary syndromes and current management of the acute myocardial infarction patient, and demonstrate familiarity with the major clinical trials that have shaped the management strategies for this patient subgroup;
- Discuss the various noninvasive modalities available for the evaluation of coronary artery and valvular heart disease, their merits, complementary roles, role in patient management, and prognostic value;
- Interpret both common and complex 12-lead electrocardiograms including subtle yet clinically important findings relevant to the board examination;
- Recognize the mechanisms plus the current medical and surgical treatment options in patients with congestive heart failure including the major clinical trials that have shaped our practice methods;
- Identify the pathophysiology, evaluation, and modalities and treatment options in patients with valvular heart disease including a comprehensive review of echocardiography;
- Demonstrate familiarity with the evaluation and treatment of patients with complex dysrhythmias and sudden cardiac death including the indications for electrophysiology testing, pacemaker implantation, and ICD placement;
- Recognize and appropriately analyze the clinical scenarios in cardiovascular medicine used in the examinations for Board Certification in Cardiovascular Disease.

Target Audience

- Practicing cardiologists seeking a comprehensive review of contemporary cardiovascular medicine;
- Cardiologists and cardiology fellows preparing for the Cardiovascular Board Certification and Re-certification Examination;
- Nurses, Nurse Practitioners, Physicians Assistants and other Health Care Professionals who manage cardiovascular disease.
