Course Description
The course provides current Minimally Invasive and Bariatric Surgery fellows from around the country with a day of career and personal development from practicing general and bariatric surgeons. Past society presidents, program directors and thought leaders from private, hospital and academic practices share their wisdom, experiences, and good humor. Talks cover a variety of topics including finding a job, work life balance and learning from your mistakes. Our course provides a unique opportunity to meet with leaders in MIS and bariatric surgery and truly welcome our fellows to the MIS and bariatric communities.

Educational Objectives
After completing this educational activity, the participant will be able to do the following:

• Determine criteria in creating a successful and fulfilling practice including tips on building a referral base and establishing clinical, academic and personal priorities.
• Identify basic techniques of structuring an academic practice including performing meaningful studies, writing papers and presenting at national meetings.
• Discuss the different surgical practice opportunities and the potential benefits of each environment.
