The goal of this educational activity is to update participants on clinical and research advances in the morphologies of congenital anomalies, the best diagnostic modalities and interventions, and the most appropriate management strategies. By providing this information in an evidence-based manner, presenters will address the existing knowledge, competence, and practice gaps of participants, which have the potential to improve clinical outcomes in this patient population.

This course is intended for cardiologists, interventional cardiologists, surgeons, nurses, physician assistants, social workers and all health care professionals involved in the evaluation, diagnosis and/or management of patients with adult congenital heart disease.

If you wish to participate, there are two payment options. Exhibitors may pay by credit card while registering on the website, or choose to pay later by check. If you choose the later, checks should be made payable to The Cleveland Clinic Educational Foundation, (Tax ID # 34-0714553) and mailed to:
