

Dear Colleague:

On behalf of the Cleveland Clinic Heart, Vascular and Thoracic Institute and the Association of Black Cardiologists, Inc., we invite you to participate as an exhibitor at our upcoming course, Cardiovascular Update 2025 for Primary Care and General Cardiology, on October 16-17, 2025. Now in its 7th year, we expect to have 200 practitioners attend this meeting.

This program will be a live event at the Marriott Cleveland Downtown at Key Center in Cleveland, Ohio.

This course will bring together experts in cardiovascular disease (CV) for a review of CV fundamentals and the most important changes in CV medicine including the diagnosis and management of commonly encountered CV conditions in the primary care and general cardiology setting.

More information on the program can be found at <http://ccfcme.org/CVUpdate25>.

The CME activity is directed to providers who care for patients at risk for CVD and those with acute and chronic cardiovascular conditions, including general cardiologists, internal medicine specialists, primary care providers, family physicians, residents, fellows, nurse practitioners, physician assistants, nurses, and pharmacists.
