

Caring for Young Adults with Heart Disease

May 15-16, 2026 | InterContinental Hotel Chicago Magnificent Mile – Chicago, IL

Dear Potential Exhibitor:

On behalf of Activity Directors, Lars G. Svensson, MD, PhD; Milind Desai, MD, MBA, and Christine Jellis, MD, PhD, MBA, of Cleveland Clinic's Heart, Vascular, and Thoracic Institute, we invite you to exhibit at the inaugural Caring for Young Adults with Heart Disease CME. This in-person CME symposium will be held at the InterContinental Chicago Magnificent Mile in Chicago, IL, on Friday, May 15 and Saturday, May 16, 2026. We anticipate 100 participants and faculty.

The curriculum is designed to equip participants with the latest knowledge and skills necessary to optimize patient outcomes through innovative therapeutic strategies and interventions. The course is directed toward physicians, physician assistants, nurse practitioners, nurses, pharmacists, and all healthcare providers with an interest in treating and managing young adult patients with cardiovascular disease.

Two exhibit levels are available: Platinum at $7500 and Gold at $5000. Payment is for exhibit space only. Multiple supporters have been invited to exhibit. The exhibits are separate from the educational space.

Benefits include:

- Recognition as an exhibitor on slides and signage
- 1.5 days of exhibit space, assigned location
- Exhibit space suitable for tabletop display
  - Platinum – two six-foot tables, four chairs or Gold – one six-foot table, two chairs
- Exhibitor badges (full access to educational sessions and meals)
  - Platinum – six badges or Gold – four badges
  - To claim CME credit, participants must register for the course at an additional fee
- Roster of consenting attendees (name, city, state) and statistics
